“ Charlie was my neighbor and a good friend. The first time I came to plane he was the first person I met, and he was so nice that day that if I needed anything, he was always there for me. He was the kind of person if you asked him anything him he always gave it to you; he helped you whenever he could. He was good to all of my kids and my grandkids. I will miss Charlie so much. I know that my daughters were both waiting there for him when he arrived in heaven, so I know he's having a great time. I will see you again someday, my friend.
