To a true friend, a strong warrior. Someone you could always count on. A Vietnam Vet who loved to roll the dice and live life to the fullest.

“ I realize this is very after the fact, but I was researching some my fellow Vietnam buddies and came across Jerry’s obit. It’s been 60 years since we were in the same aviation unit that formed at Ft Benning, loved and trained together and went to Vietnam on a troop ship. Jerry and I were assigned the Flight OperationsSection and we live that year while in country in the same hooch. I have nothing but great memories of him. His friendship was more like brotherhood than just another guy sharing the same tent. He had Army experience for a few years that this greenhorn didn’t, and looked out for us newbies like a big brother. I’ll always remember his calm, low keyed wisdom and witty sayings. I can truly say he was one of my best friends in Nam. Our work fostered a very close relationship with not just each other but “our gang” of guys working closely together and other guys who lived with us. In summation he was a very special man and I am so very lucky to have known and worked so closely with him during that time. I am sure he is dearly missed even today by his family and friends,
