“ Mr. Golden was our family’s milkman when I was little. I can remember how cheerful and nice he was to me. I hadn’t even started school yet so I was always home when he drove in. I can remember when my younger sister was a baby the doctor said she had to have fresh cow’s milk instead of homogenized so we got a milk cow. Mr. Golden stopped by in his milk truck to meet the cow that had replaced him. He stood visiting with my Dad while Dad milked the cow. They had a good visit and I can remember them laughing. That was the last time I remember seeing him. Such a nice man to a little girl. That was probably 60+ years ago. When I saw the picture of him in the paper I immediately recognized him. He always wore the bib overalls. Reading about his life shows that he carried his goodness throughout his life. God bless him.

“ I remember a family get together at my Grandpa Havens house. My Uncle Glenn and Uncle Jim (from my mom's side) were both there. Two very similar uncles in that for fun I mentioned something about current politics and the religious implications and then my job was done. I left to go outside because I knew that was going to be a long and energetic conversation! They both had the same point of view too :)
I always picture my Uncle with a big smile and quick to laugh.
Love you and praying for you.

“ We built our house on 2nd St 30 years ago so we saw him drive by many, many times a day for years. I knew your parents from WFMC so he always waved. I told my kids about his passing, describing him as the "guy in the beat up black and white pickup". (I believe it was you or your sister that rolled it!) They knew exactly who I was talking about. We're sorry for your loss. Gary and Janet (Moore) Searles
