“ Mr. Adam's was my uncle from a previous marriage. He was the man I always wanted to be when I was growing up, as my father was not in the picture. A kinder more understanding man there isn't. He helped me through many a problem, although I am not sure he knew how much he helped me. He is partly the reason for me becoming the man I am today. I never got a chance to thank him, as I lost touch with him after he and my aunt divorced. Uncle Lamar, I know that you will hear this. You are loved and will be missed. - Mr. Darwin H. Gardner Jr.

“ This is Mona Lisa, Lamar taught me to drive a car. He would come over to visit when my dad was out to sea and help my mom. I've many wonderful memories of him growing up, at the cabin, swimming and fishing. God bless his family and know that he was a special man.

I met Lamar when he sold me a table saw many,many years ago. We became friends and worked on many different projects. Always a light hearted man and we entertained each other with jokes and our reactions to our different ways of working together on the projects. One heck of a good friend. Rest in peace.
