“ Lorraine & I did not share our childhood together as cousins often do, however in later years our love for each other grew. We bonded while sharing our love of family history, researching the Stuart & Butlebr family trees.

I will continue to miss her sweetness , her quiet gentleness, her thoughtfulness and her firm opinions. She was SPECIAL to all who knew her.

“ I told this little remembrance at Lorene's memorial service last Saturday:

When I was a kid, Uncle Homer Stuart gave me a day job at this house, digging a ditch. Lorene and Bill lived in a basement apartment at Uncle Homer's house.

I worked all day digging a magnificent ditch for uncle Homer, who was away running his store on Grant Road. Lorene checked up on me frequently during the day - making sure I had something to drink during the warm summer day - and come noon, she made sure I came in to the house to have a sandwich and a bowl of soup. She was looking out for me.

She was always quiet and reserved, just like her parents -- but, I knew she was a kind, caring person.

When you are a kid - people can make a big impression on you. This was the case with my older Cousin Lorene .
