“ Shelly & I were both employed as telephone operators in Wenatchee for several years. We found common ground, being the 'young ones' in the office. We also discovered that we had common friends.

When our crazy-hour shifts would cross, it was always better. We became masters of intermittent conversations while answering calls. We recently connected via Facebook. Sadly, we didn't physically reunite. It's a sad reminder to act on your thoughts & ideas, not wait. I'll always smile when she is reminisced.
