“ My favorite memory of grandpa was when he came to our house and let Lizzie, the lizard he got me, run on are tilted floor. He was an excellent guitar player and teacher watching him play guitar with me was a great memory he was a great man and will be remembered by me. I want to continue to play guitar because of him and his stories. I love you grandpa. When I listen to rock and roll music on the radio I think of him. Rock on grandpa! 🎸 I will be rocking with the guitar that you gave me 🙌 . Love Ollie

“ Zane, I will always remember you as such a giving soul. You had a smile that could light the room. Souls like yours only come around once in a great while. I will miss you. Say hi to Uncle Jerry

“ 7 Bridges Road-Eagles...

My band was playing The Rock and there was this dude sitting in the front tables and couldn't get enough of our songs. That was Zane, he talked to me between sets and cigarettes about playing live music and singing with his friends. I don't think I'll forget it because it was so early in my band's time. Great man. I'm sorry for your loss Ashley.

Being a neighbor to EZ while I stayed at my grandparents (Swindell's) Zane and I first crossed paths. I was switching from classical Viola to Rock and roll. It was 73 and we both liked BTO, I played the kit. Never really played much together onstage but he knew I had a voice but was shy. Maybe we can do that in the next stop my friend. Zane was everyone's loss.

“ I watched zane grow from the time he was little and one thing I know to be true..as he grew and through his adulthood he had a happy smile and was SO NICE TO EVERYONE! He had a calm demeanor and was a beautiful soul.
He always called me "aunt sandy" no matter when he saw me, which touched my heart each time. We will all miss this sweet, sweet human....

“ Dad,
I'm pretty sure I got my big heart from you, thank you for that!! You were always so giving of yourself even when you didn't have much to give. Every-time I hear a guitar strum, I will think of you and it will make me shed a happy tear. I loved your music. I also loved sharing jokes with you. Even if you already knew the punch line, you would never tell me and would laugh anyways like it was the first time you had ever heard it. Until we meet again, I love you -AshleyRae

“ So many memories I could share dad. You were always the kind of person who would give your last penny to someone who needed it, the shirt off your back, or a good laugh. You were there any and every time I needed you. Even to give hamster CPR. I'll never forget how to catch lizards by hand, or build forts in busses thanks to you. I'll make sure to show people the creepy spiderweb hand trick. I couldn't have asked for a better dad with a more genuinely pure heart. You're happy smile, and creativity will live on with all of us girls, as well as your impact on everyone you've ever met. □

“ Hey Daddio,

I miss you so much. Thank you for being one of my dearest friends and for all the incredible memories we shared— a thousand years wouldn't be enough. I'll always miss your jokes and the way we could sit and swap stories so easily. More than anything, I'll miss how effortless it was to talk with you.

But on a brighter note, your music lives on in so many of us. There are hundreds, if not thousands, of melodies and lyrics that bring you back to me, and for that, I'm endlessly grateful.
